have not the mechanical skill as well as the artistic ability to construct novelties equal to those sold in shops. But it is possible to buy the groundwork—that is, things in the rough—and vastly improve them. To assist in this laudable effort Golden Days gives the following illustrated description of a photograph holder:

A large paim leaf screen or fan forms the foundation for this novel pocket for loose photographs of noted characters or prized views. There are three pockets, each of which is felled on a firm holland, with a upper photos. The pockets should be lined with holiand. The fronts of the three pockets are embroidered in satin, the color suited to the wall on which the fan is to be hung. The lower pocket is cut in two broad scallops, the two others are straight at top, and all are bound over the edge, which keeps in shape better for having a fine wire sewed on under a binding of plush, or simply sewed to the lining and a chenille cord fastened on the seam. The palm leaf itself is seen at top. In order to strengthen and preserve the foundation it would be wiser to line the back with a thin cardboard covered with satin or any chesper material. This can be slightly sewed round the edge of the fan.

A Story of Dick the Starling.

Dick the Starling was the friend of the cook and the cat. Both were equally sympathetic, and pitied the little unfledged creature, who was by some accident left motherless in his carly youth. Cook used to get up at some unheard of hour in the morning to feed her clamorous pet, and then would bring him down with her at breakfast time and consign him to pussy's care. She, receiving him with a gentle purr of delight, would let him nestle into her soft fur for warmth. Dick's education was carried on with such success that he could soon speak a few words very clearly. Strangers used to be rather startled by a weird looking bird flying in from the garden and saying, "Beauty dear, puss, puss, minow." But it

Commencing Sunday, July 10,1860, the Missouri Pacific railway will run through aleeping care from St. Louis via Pleasant Hill, Rich Hill, Fort Scott and Wichita to Geneseo and from themes to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver. This change was made on account of a great many people from the east going to Colorado being desirous of going via Wichita. The train will stop here two bours, giving all a chance to view the "Peeriess Princess" and still land passengers in Colorado same chance to view the "Peerless Princess" and still land passengers in Colorado same time as if they had gone via Kansas City. It also gives the citizens of Wiehita alseping car service from here to Colorado. Returning, it gives us through sleeping oar service Wiehita to St. Louis, and gives the Colorado people a chance to go east via Wiehita. This change will undoubtedly be appreciated by the traveling public, and especially by the citizens of Wiehita. If you are going east or west go via the popular new through route. Through chair and sleeping car service. New route just completed between Fort Scott and Rich Hill goes through the fixest mineral and agricultural country in the west.
